Later, we will proceed to the Yu Garden, a typical classical garden in southern China, which was constructed during the 16th century. The finely structured pavilions, winding cloisters, decorated walls and crystal ponds together make the garden a charming and tranquil land in bustling Shanghai. After visiting Yu Garden, you can stroll around the nearby Yu yuan Old Street to taste authentic Shanghai specialties.

In the afternoon, visit Xin Tian Di, a former neighborhood of old Shanghai. It has been renewed as a fashionable pedestrian street now, featuring fine restaurants, upscale clubs and boutiques. Here you can also see the unique architecture, Shikumen, which was once a characteristic residential residence in Shanghai.

Afterward, your sightseeing trip will draw to an end as we transfer you to the airport and see you off there. Head back home or extend your trip to other cities in China.
